Politics Heard on The Streets.

A+ the democratic rally last Friday night many blood and thunder bursts of oratory were indulged in and for the main part the spell-binders of dusky hue, dwelt upon the good graces of the present city administra-tion. Then there was the ever prevailing display of misappro-priated English, which naturally tended to weaken the cause they were trying to espouse. The teachings of the Bible were freely quoted, Shakespeare and every other peer, were the sources from which elaborated effusions were belched forth, embellished with saloon phraseology, Ben Orendorff spent Sunday in etc. And yet we have been ask-pringfield. ed to do it justice. Well we have. Judge Murray's talk was sensible.
